

Supplemental Guidelines to California Adjustments

General Information

In general, California law conforms to the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) as of January 2005. However, there are continuing differences between California and federal law. When California conforms to federal tax law changes, we do not always adopt all of the changes made at the federal level. For more information regarding California and federal law, go to our Website at www.ftb.ca.gov and search for conformity. Additional information can be found in the instructions for California Schedule CA (540 or 540NR) and the Business Entity tax booklets.

Note, the instructions provided with California tax forms are a summary of California tax law and are only intended to aid taxpayers in preparing their state income tax returns. We include information that is most useful to the greatest number of taxpayers in the limited space available. It is not possible to include all requirements of the California Revenue and Taxation Code (R&TC) in the tax booklets. Taxpayers should not consider the tax booklets as authoritative law.

What's New

Conformity

For updates regarding the following federal acts, go to our Website at www.ftb.ca.gov and search for conformity.

- Tax Increase Prevention and Reconciliation Act of 2005
- Federal Energy Policy Act of 2005
- Pension Protection Act of 2006

Federal Tax Increase Prevention and Reconciliation Act

The Federal Tax Increase Prevention and Reconciliation Act increased the age of the children from under 14 to under 18 for elections made by parents reporting a child's interest and dividends. If you elected to include a child between the ages 14 to 18 on your federal return an adjustment is required on your California income tax return.

Registered Domestic Partners

Beginning with the 2007 tax year, registered domestic partners are required to file California returns using the joint or separate filing statuses.

Purpose

Use these guidelines to make adjustments to federal adjusted gross income that are necessary because of current year or prior year differences between California and federal law. Generally, you report these adjustments directly on Schedule CA (540), California Adjustments — Residents, or Schedule CA (540NR), California Adjustments — Nonresidents or Part-Year Residents. If required to make multiple adjustments for any one line on Schedule CA (540 or 540NR), attach a statement to your return summarizing these adjustments.

In some cases you need to complete other forms or schedules to figure the adjustment to carry to Schedule CA (540 or 540NR). See "Order Forms and Publications" in your tax booklet for information about ordering forms or go to our Website at www.ftb.ca.gov.

Military compensation is considered income from tribal sources. For more information, get FTB 674, Frequently Asked Questions About the Income Taxation of American Indians. Items of income and deduction from pass-through entities may differ due to various differences between federal and state law. Refer to federal Schedule K-1 (1065), or federal Form 1066, Schedule Q, in the case of REMICs, to determine items of income and deduction for federal purposes. Follow the instructions for Schedules K-1 (100S, 541, 565, or 568). Some items are reported directly on Schedule CA (540 or 540NR), line 17, and some items must be reported on other forms and schedules. Note: Part-year residents must allocate income between the period of residency and the period of nonresidency in a manner that reflects the actual date of realization of partnership, S corporation and certain trust income. In the absence of information that reflects the actual date of realization, the taxpayer must allocate an annual amount on a proportional basis between the two periods, using a daily pro-rata methodology. If a trust has a California resident trustee or beneficiary, the beneficiary is non-contingent, and the trust has not filed a California return and paid California tax as the income was accumulated, then the full amount of the accumulation distribution is taxable to the beneficiary in the year the accumulation distribution is received.

If you received a federal Schedule J (1041) and did not receive a California Schedule J (541), Trust Allocation of an Accumulation Distribution, an adjustment is required because the trust did not file a California return and pay the tax as the income was accumulated. The accumulation distribution from federal Schedule J (1041) must be adjusted for California purposes. This information must be provided by the trustee.
